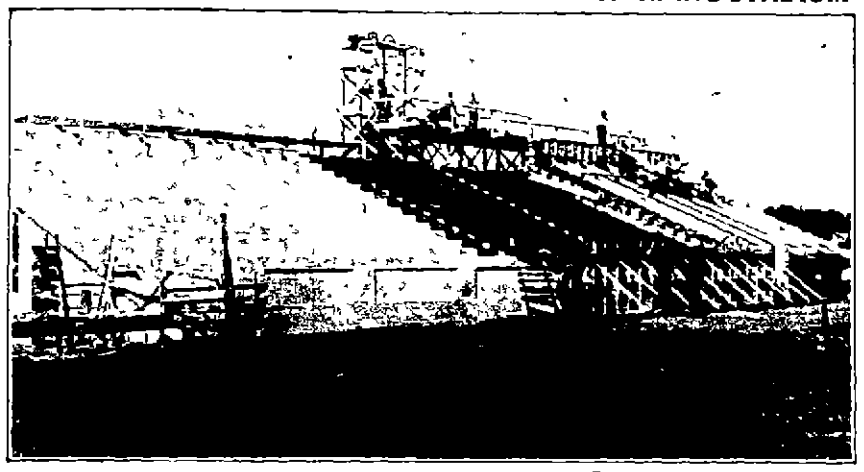
CAMERA VIEW OF PARTIALLY COMPLETED HARDING STADIUM



The new Harding High school stadium is pictured above as workmen poured the last concrete for the second section. Pouring of concrete for the third section is scheduled to start tomorrow morning.

RUSH STADIUM TO COMPLETION

Football Field Structure Expected To Be Completed for Dedication

MAP DETAILS OF PROGRAM

Workmen Will Start Pouring Concrete for Last Section Thursday

Prospects that the new Harding High school stadium will be ready for dedication ceremonies Oct. 12 were brighter today with the announcement that concrete for the final section would be poured Thursday.

Plans are rapidly going ahead for dedicating the stadium one week from Saturday when the Mansfield High school Tygers come to Marion for their annual football battle with the Harding High team. The game with Mansfield will be the second North Central Ohio conference game for Harding and the last to be played on the home field this season according to the present schedule.

Completion of the stands for the Mansfield game is being rushed by a crew of more than 40 workmen. Last of the steelwork and wooden forms was to be placed today and cement mixers were to start turning about 6 a. m. tomorrow.

Nearly 1400 seats will be installed by the dedication date, H. J. Feldner Jr., assistant WPA field engineer, said today. Only a delay in the delivery of brackets and lumber can mar the plans now, he said. Possibility of a delay is remote as these materials are purchased locally.

Final work on the third or middle section was scheduled to start late today with the pouring of concrete columns. Concrete seat tiers, the big job of each section's construction will be tackled early tomorrow.

Approximately five days will be required to install the brackets and seats according to Charles W. Williams, general foreman. Dismantling of wooden forms will be started as soon as the concrete has set firmly.

Additions to the original plans call for the erection of one section at each end of the stands. Two additional sections will raise the total seating capacity to 2303 while wooden bleachers on the east side of the field will increase seating facilities to near the 3200 mark.

Applications for WPA funds to build the two additional sections are now in the hands of President Roosevelt for approval. If funds are granted for erection of the two sections, construction will be completed this fall.

Architect's plans for the stadium also include a field house to be constructed under the stands. Plans call for the building of locker and shower room for home and visiting teams, a room for coaches and officials, a storage room and comfort rooms. The equipment would also include first aid facilities, driers for uniforms and shelves for storing football equipment.

Plans are being completed for

As outlined by the commission, the charge is that the companies including the General Electric Co., organized subsidiary and sectional groups of manufacturers and then, after exchanging price information, agreed to sell power cable and wire materials at identical prices.

Man Sought in Boylan Robbery Attack Caught

Earl Zimmer, 20, Arrested in Sullivan, Ind., as Suspect in Attack on Step-Father, Charges Filed as Officers Leave for Prisoner

Earl Zimmer, 20, of Marion was arrested in Sullivan, Ind., late yesterday as a suspect in the robbery of his step-father, Edwin Boylan, 59, of 139 Wall street, in the robbery Bo lan was beaten with a club and a cast iron griddle and is in serious condition at the City hospital.

Zimmer was arrested by Sullivan police after County Prosecutor Paul D. Michel and police had sent a telegram asking them to be on the lookout for Zimmer at the home of Miss Velma Myers in that city. This request was made after Prosecutor Michel found a letter from Miss Myers to Zimmer among Zimmer's possessions at the Boylan home where he had been living.

Sheriff Fred F. Miller and Patrolman Fred Norton left Marion at noon today to bring Zimmer to Marion. Armed with a robbery charge filed by police they planned to bring Zimmer here some time Thursday. A telegram from Sullivan police stated Zimmer would waive extradition proceedings.

Details of Zimmer's arrest were not known here. Police yesterday afternoon received a telegram stating only that Zimmer was in custody.

Zimmer formerly worked in Sullivan, Ind., and knew Miss Myers whom he had met at Vincennes, Ind., the prosecutor said. The letter from Miss Myers to Zimmer found by the prosecutor was dated Sept. 19.

Zimmer became a suspect in the case after the prosecutor and police learned that he had been in a downstairs room reading and smoking, when Boylan went to bed last Saturday night an hour before the attack but was not seen afterward. Another factor was the identification of a shirt Boylan tore from his assailant during a 15-minute battle with him in the darkness of Boylan's bedroom. This shirt was identified as one of Zimmer's by Mrs. Boylan, mother of Zimmer.

The robber took $30 from Boylan's clothing after beating him until he was overpowered.

The attending physician today said Boylan is definitely out of danger.

BANK FIGURES SHOW BUSINESS CLIMBING

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O. Oct. 2—Business activity in the fourth federal reserve district continued improving in September, the Federal Reserve bank of Cleveland said in its monthly review today.

The return to better conditions began in the summer months was accelerated by preparations for the release of new auto models two months earlier than usual. The period of slack production was shortened for manufacturers of auto parts and materials who passed their low point in in August or early September.

With practically no summer slump, said the monthly business review, many plants are enjoying the best business year since 1929 but the effect of this advance in the auto industry on operations in a later period when in past years a seasonal expansion was experienced will be watched carefully.

Gain Contrary to Trend

In August and early September employment in the district showed a gain contrary to the trend during the same period in the four years, the review said. Electric power production was about 13 per cent ahead of the corresponding period in 1934 in this region.

The tire industry in August reported conditions somewhat improved with inventories considerably

NO CLUES FOUND TO IDENTITY OF BODY

County authorities today were without a clue that might help them establish identity of the body of a man found in a wooded plot northeast of Marion yesterday.

As efforts to establish identification continued, arrangements were made for county burial of the body probably at Caledonia cemetery.

Dr. M. F. Axtheim, county coroner, said a search of the man's clothing yielded 11 cents and a razor. There were no papers or clothing marks that would assist in identification, he said.

The body was taken yesterday to the Timson funeral home in Caledonia.

It was found in the woods on the Frank Poesch farm one and one-half miles northeast of Caledonia by M. L. Stineheifer of near Galion who was hunting squirrels at the time. He told E. A. Wade of Harpster, a pipe line walker, who reported to county authorities.

IL DUCE TELLS ITALY SOLEMN HOUR IS NEAR

Multitudes Assembled in All Cities for Test Mobilization Before Offensive

FLASHES CALL TO FASCISTS

People Leave Their Work, Don Blackshirt Uniforms and Fall in Line.

By The Associated Press

ROME, Oct. 2—Premier Mussolini today told his millions of fervent followers that a solemn hour is about to break in history.

He made this declaration to the multitudes of Italians assembled in all their cities and villages—flung upon radio-manned loud speakers which conveyed their leader's words to the expectant throngs.

Whole Population Out

Virtually the entire population of Italy had gathered in a general mobilization at the call of Mussolini to hear their leader's words.

Although the call had been expected for some time, it was flashed out today only three hours before Mussolini began speaking.

Black shirt men and women of Italy, said Mussolini, I speak to 20,000,000 men and women.

Il Duce appeared on the balcony of Venezia palace at 6:05 p. m. (12:05 p. m. Marion time).

For several minutes before and after his appearance, the crowd roared in salute of Il Duce. The swelling chorus of voices drowned out all other sounds.

Voices Blare Through Speakers

These massed voices blared through the loud speakers in the 7,829 communities of Italy where loyal Fascists gathered.

Their own voices answered the cud from Rome.

Then Il Duce declared: 'Not only our army marches toward its goal but 44,000,000 Italians are marching with the army.'

He said Italy would respond to war with war.

He declared he did not believe that the real French associate themselves with sanctions against Italy.

As soon as the nation-wide mobilization was called a special guard of 300 police and infantrymen was thrown around the British embassy.

The detachment formed a triple line of guards around the building.

Posters Attack Britain

Throughout the city were pasted posters declaring: 'We find it simply monstrous that this nation (Great Britain) which dominates the world refuses us a strip in the poor land of Africa.'

Sirens, church bells and drums announced the long expected adunata throughout the land.

Achille Shiraco, the Fascist party's secretary general, issued the official call.

Fascists estimated that more than 10,000,000 men and women gathered to hear Il Duce's message.

At the signal for the test of mobilization strength, the Fascists were requested to leave their work, return to their homes, don the blackshirt uniforms and fall in at prearranged points.

Each of the 10,000,000 was informed in advance as to what square he should go.

800 WOMEN ON HAND AS COOKING SCHOOL OPENS

Lecturer Gives Audience New Hints in Preparing and Serving Meals.

The Marion Star's eleventh annual cooking school got off to a flying start both from a standpoint of interest and attendance Tuesday afternoon as Mrs. George O. Thurn, cooking school instructor, gave out valuable information in what is new in cookery and serving to an audience of approximately 800 women.

Mrs. Thurn has chosen to call her school a housewives convention for after all she said the men go to conventions to get new ideas and exchange viewpoints on business and the work of being a housewife is the most worthwhile of all professions in the world.

If the initial program may be taken as an indication of what is to be presented during the four day series, the women of Marion and vicinity will not only have a full storehouse of practical and inexpensive dishes but a valuable fund of short cuts in the preparation of meals and home management.

Talks As She Stirs

Mrs. Thurn talked, stirred, beat and baked in her temporary kitchen on the stage of the auditorium. She upset the age old idea that the whites of the eggs should be beaten the last thing by beating them thoroughly the very first

AIRPLANE HUNTING TRIP BRINGS CRASH

An ultra modern squirrel hunting expedition via airplane came to grief this morning in the vicinity of Kenton when the plane piloted by Stanley Herr of 473 Forest street developed engine trouble and was forced down in a rough clearing that damaged the plane.

Mr. Herr and a companion whose name could not be learned left the Marion airport about 6:30 a. m. today in Herr's speedy Kinner Bird biplane and headed for LaRue where they had been invited to hunt on a farm in the vicinity.

They decided to circle Kenton before going to the LaRue farm. Mr. Herr told a friend and it was four miles east of Kenton that the engine trouble developed. He was forced to land in a clearing between two woods on the F. J. Laubis farm. In landing the plane on the rough ground the landing gear was broken. Otherwise the plane was not damaged and neither the pilot nor his companion was injured.

Carl Wolf, living on a nearby farm, took them to their original destination in his automobile. The crippled plane was still at the Laubis farm at noon today.

Mr. Herr has owned and piloted his own plane for several years.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO MANSLAUGHTER

Delaware Man Accused in Death of Aged Man on Highway.

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE, O., Oct. 2—Price Covrett, 25-year-old truck driver, pleaded innocent late yesterday to a charge of second degree manslaughter in connection with the death of Silas Nixon, 72. Nixon died Saturday night when a truck struck him as he walked on a road.

Prosecutor L. S. Keller said Covrett did not return to the right side of the road after passing a car and struck Nixon.

Justice of the Peace J. J. Schweitzer held Covrett in $500 bond for preliminary examination Thursday. Keller said Covrett's companion, Harry Scott, 25, detained with him, would probably be released.

Manslaughter in the second degree charges Covrett with unintentionally killing a person while unlawfully operating a motor vehicle on a public highway.

FIGHTING REPORTED ON AFRICAN BORDER

minister of war for a conference.

Five British bombing planes flew over Candia, Crete, this morning in the direction of Alexandria.

The British cabinet met simultaneously with further reports on additional concentrations of British ships in the Suez canal area.

Last Hope for Peace

At Geneva, hope for averting armed conflict was abandoned by an apparent majority of international experts. The more optimistic among them said they believed whatever fighting occurred might be limited to Ethiopia, but there were many who still feared the fighting might spread into Europe.

While league experts considered whether sanctions might be applied to Italy to prevent invasion of Africa, the Italian government delivered an anticipatory answer through the dispatch of additional thousands of fighting men to east Africa—equipped and ready for battle.

The question of whether military sanctions should be used to curb Italy received an overwhelming answer of "yes" from the labor party in Great Britain. A referendum of the party's members showed 2,168,000 in favor of sanctions to 102,000 opposed.

At Cairo the Egyptian cabinet was convened in a sudden special session after Sir Miles Lampson, British high commissioner, had flown to Alexandria for an unexpected interview with King Fuad.

Says Attack Base Set Up in Ethiopia

By The Associated Press

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 2—Emperor Haile Selassie's note protesting to the League of Nations against an alleged invasion of Ethiopia follow.

"We call to the attention of the League of Nations that Italy has prepared a base of attack of great size in the region south of Mount Mussa Ali. The nearness of this region to the sea and its facility of access through Somali would allow the council (of the league) either to send observers or to obtain confirmation from the French government in Somaliland that this is a violation of Ethiopian territory."

In anticipation of the possibility of air raids, the emperor ordered all hotels in Addis Ababa to construct bomb-proof shelters.

thing, (just so she would not have to wash the beater of the electric mixer) and exploded the idea that "it is the beating of a cake that makes it fine," by beating the batter of her delicious banana cake just long enough to mix the ingredients together. The secret of her eggs not turning to liquid after being beaten so early in the cake-baking process was that she put ¼ of the ¾ cup of sugar which the recipe called for, into the beaten whites. This, she said, and proved her point, holds up the egg whites until they are needed. Forty-five seconds, unless the dough is very heavy, is long enough to mix cake batter, she declared.

There was a cup of mashed bananas in the cake and Mrs. Thurn concocted a tasty drink with one banana and a cup of cold milk. When she turned to the cake family again it was to fashion "lovers knots" which she said were good with ice cream, a salad course or an afternoon cup of tea.

Refrigerator cookies are something that can be made on short notice and quickly, providing the dough is kept made up, she said. And her simple recipe for cabbage slaw was offered as challenge to any recipe in the cabbage family.

Main Dish of Menu

The main dish of the menu, the meat balls were cooked before the opening of the program and were given as one of the awards at the close. The making of tea and coffee and a laundering demonstration completed the program.

A feature of the afternoon was a style show in which fall apparel and practical home costumes were modeled on the stage.

At the close of the lecture the women went up to Hinegardner to view at closer range the afternoon's menu demonstration. In addition there are numerous displays of furniture to interest the women and equipment and household articles which present the last word in their particular field of merchandise.

The cooking school will be held this afternoon, Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Added pleasure in the occasion for Mr. Gracely was the presence of a boyhood chum, Carl A. Ploch, an Indianapolis banker and a former Marion resident. Mr. Ploch, whose father, Rev Carl Ploch of Indianapolis is a former pastor of the Prospect Street M E church of Marion, is now serving as grand master of the Indiana grand council. The two men attended Marion High school together until Mr. Ploch left in the late '80's to live in Indianapolis. He will retire as head of the Indiana grand council at the assembly the last of this month in Anderson. Their picture, clasping hands, was carried today in a Columbus morning paper.

Masonic Record Here

Mr. Gracely served as high priest of Marion Chapter No. 62, R. A. M. in 1923, was illustrious master of Marion Council in 1924 and was commander in Marion Commandery No. 36, Knights Templar, in 1928. ably reduced," said the review, "but the price situation continues very unfavorable. Crude rubber consumption was up 18 per cent in August from last year."

Production at shoe factories in the fourth district was heavier in August than in any month on record, the bank reported. The gain was 20 per cent better than in the same period last year and the improvement continued into September. Textile and clothing plants were operating at a rate "considerably above last year."

Building Operations Still Up

Although building operations declined slightly in August, the business review said the gain from last year in the residential field was "still marked, being in excess of 100 per cent."

Store dollar sales were three per cent larger than in August, 1934. Crop prospects declined about two per cent in August, because of storm damage, but favorable growing weather in September helped late-maturing crops and this season's harvest was larger than that of the two preceding years.

Total loans and investments at fourth district member banks in lending cities rose from $1,255,000,000 on Aug. 21 to $1,263,000,000 on Sept. 18. On Sept 18, 1934, the figure was $1,184,000,000.

In general, little change was apparent in financial conditions of the district in late August and the first three weeks of September. Deposits at reporting banks were almost the same on Sept 18 as Aug. 18. Loans to industry showed a slight increase in the four weeks.

Steel Markets Strong

The business review said iron and steel markets generally were strong, although the delay by auto makers kept the operating rate from increasing.

Conditions in the china and pottery industry improved in early September, with operations at about 70 per cent of capacity. Glass shipments showed a seasonal decline in August. Hardware manufacturing plants reported a great-than-seasonal increase in sales, employment and wages. New orders in the machine tool industry in August were 126 per cent of the average monthly shipments in 1926 compared with 110.8 per cent in July.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 2—Mayor Harry L. Davis, Republican, four times mayor of Cleveland and former Ohio governor, went down to defeat in the mayoral primary yesterday, a complete count of the vote showed today.

Former Mayor Ray T. Miller, Democrat, and Harold H. Burton, Independent Republican, overthrew the administration of the former governor and will oppose each other in the November election.

The vote was Burton 75,034; Miller 71,858, Davis 65,753. Joseph F. Gorman, Democrat, had 21,729 votes and four other candidates received a total of 13,477 votes.

Davis was elected two years later and served three consecutive terms. In 1929 he resigned to run for governor and was elected over Vic Donahey, now U. S. senator from Ohio.

MACK'S SECOND SACKER HUNTS IN UNION COUNTY

Warstler Passes Up World Series for Two-Day Squirrel Season Outing.

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD, O. Oct. 2—Hunting in Union county had more appeal for one major league baseball player than the annual classic of the American sport, the world series.

The lure of Ohio's spry little game animal, the fox squirrel, yesterday brought Harold "Rabbit" Warstler, second baseman for Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, to Richwood for two-day period of hunting and relaxation after a long summer's campaigning in the American League.

Warstler, a resident of North Canton, O., arrived here yesterday with a friend, Myron Hummel, in time to take a long tramp into woodlands near Richwood. After today's hunting session Warstler will return to his home. He does not intend to witness a world series game, he said.

The Athletic infielder shot three squirrels yesterday in the few hours he was in the woods, but was determined to get his bag limit of four today.

He is the guest here of Mr. and Mrs. Vernal Zuspan, uncle and aunt of Mr. Hummel.

"The Detroit Tigers will win the world series in six games," Warstler said. He has faced the Detroit pitching staff many times, himself, and is decidedly of the opinion the Detroit Bengals are stronger.

Warstler said his plans for the winter months were not certain, but he expects to talk contract terms with Connie Mack shortly after Jan. 1, 1936. He joined the Athletics last year after four years with the Boston Americans. He left the ball club last Wednesday as the veteran Philadelphia pilot gave new players a chance to show their wares in the final games.

Toured Orient

The Athletic second sacker was a member of the Connie Mack squad which toured the Orient last winter, with Babe Ruth and Jimmie Foxx. Warstler played semi-pro baseball in Canton, Coshocton and Cleveland before joining the Indianapolis club of the American Association in 1927. He played with the Indianapolis team until 1930 when he got his chance in "big time" ball with Boston.

ROOSEVELT TO BOARD BATTLESHIP TONIGHT

By The Associated Press

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 2—President Roosevelt paused on the southwestern tip of the nation today after his trans-continental tour for an address before embarking on his long deferred cruise of the Pacific to the Panama canal.

The twinkling beams of "blinker" messages among the United States fleet, flashed beyond his hotel window throughout the night here preparatory to today's naval demonstration.

Mr. Roosevelt reached here to attend the California Pacific exposition, obviously thrilled by the smiling faces and cheers of the million or more people who have greeted him on the way to the coast.

Intimates of the President were inclined to place significance on today's talk to be delivered over a national hookup at 2 p. m. (5 p. m. Marion time).

Ending his 3,500-mile trip across the country here last night, the President had private dinner with Mrs. Roosevelt who accompanied him.

Late today after visiting the exposition and talking to the folks there and throughout the nation, he boards the cruiser Houston to go to sea.

U. S. NEAR BOOM ERA, SAYS OHIO EXECUTIVE

By The Associated Press

MIDDLETOWN, O., Oct. 2—The United States, in the opinion of Charles R. Hook, president of the American Rolling Mill Co. is headed for "one of the greatest eras of prosperity ever known," if "we can get the confidence of investors back and agree on sound economic principles."

Speaking before 250 mill superintendents and department heads gathered for the presentation of a company life-saving medal to Albert Creekbaum a crane operator, Hook observed that "recovery means getting men off relief lists, back on pay rolls."

"Until we do that, the number of men on relief rolls will not be reduced, debt will continue and we are all going to pay the bill in the form of taxes.

"I have no patience with those who say 'there is no hope for the future' or 'we cannot afford new homes' or 'we have reached the saturation point in automobiles, etc,' he continued, and cited what he termed the 'tremendous back demands for durable goods now existing in this country.'"

There have been few new homes built recently, Hook declared, adding that the building of the "to meet the great need," points the way to recovery.

EUROPEAN PICTURE DRAWN BY SPEAKER

Reports of War Threat Not Overdrawn, H. C. Wolfe Tells Rotary Club.

Newspaper headlines relating to the present situation in Europe are by no means overdrawn, members of the Marion Rotary club were informed yesterday by a man who has only recently returned from an extensive tour and study of conditions there.

The speaker was Henry C. Wolfe, widely known writer and lecturer from Coshocton, O., who addressed the club following its weekly luncheon at Hotel Harding.

Reviewing his travels through various countries, Mr. Wolfe pointed to the numerous complications which make the European continent "a powder keg which needs only a spark to touch it off."

Announcement was made that officers of the Findlay Rotary club will have charge of next week's program at the Marion club's meeting.

Massed at Gates

The sturdiest of Detroit's citizenry, a word of prayer for scrappy Mickey Cochrane and Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, Warneke's pitching rival today on every chilled lip, massed at the $1.10 rush gates to the temporary bleachers early this morning. The moment the gates opened, they flooded in and before 8 a. m. had packed all but one corner of the vast expanse of the temporary seats ranging from the left field foul line all the way to the flag pole in center.

A sturdy 20-piece brass band, with baseball's first string comic, Al Schacht in his battered silk hat, cutaway coat and baseball pants, leading the thunder, serenaded the throng from home plate, then courageously went right out to lock horns with the bleacher boys. They played everything, from popular songs to stirring marches, and the faithful cheered them so that in appreciation they nearly blew themselves apart.

Herded Into Hotel

The athletes, kept in seclusion last night, were about early, eager for the fray. Charlie Grimm, manager of the Cubs, herded his group together in a downdown hotel, gave them a bit of a pep talk, and headed for the ball yard.

"No changes on our side," said Happy Charlie, flanked by his grinning catcher, Gabby Hartnett, who looked as though he'd have to shake every hand in the lobby. "We'll win this one with Lon Warneke, and race right through the series."

Cochrane had his men dressing early, and he locked himself in with them in the clubhouse. He had fiery words for them. They haven't been doing so well since clinching the American League pennant, dropping 14 of their last 26 games, as the Cubs tore down the stretch of the Nation League race.

Tigers Look Droopy

The Tigers were a droopy looking group, the exact opposite of the happy, shouting Cubs. While Billy Herman, Cubs star second baseman, yelled to his mates "Just batting practice today, boys, just batting practice," Warneke lolled on a bench so unconcerned that he yawned a couple of times and looked as though he were going to fall asleep.

STAGE PAIR MARRIED BUT SHOW GOES ON

Acrobat and Dancer Rush from Ceremony to Theater Performance.

The unwritten law of stage troupers that "the show must go on" almost had a conflict with Dan Cupid yesterday, but Municipal Judge William R. Martin solved the problem by performing a marriage in double-quick time.

Just a few minutes before they were scheduled to go on the stage at the Palace theater for a matinee performance yesterday, Cecil A. Mathews, an acrobat, and Miss Marjorie Brod, a dancer, hurried to Judge Martin's office with a request to be married "in a hurry."

So without frills or delay, Judge Martin joined them in marriage while two other members of the show troupe served as witnesses.

Then they hustled out to get ready for the 2:50 p. m. performance that was about to get started.

Members of the troupe explained today that Miss Brod, a member of of the chorus in the stage show presented at the Palace yesterday and today, and Mathews had been planning for several weeks to get married, but had held up their plans to join another couple in a double wedding. Changing their plans, Miss Brod and Mathews suddenly decided yesterday to get married here.

Miss Brod, 18, is from St. Louis, Mo. She joined the troupe in Chicago last April. Mathews is a member of the acrobatic team billed as the Six American Belfords who have been with the show a year. They will continue with the show.

Forrest Grubb, an acrobat, and Miss Phyllis Morgan of Chicago, Ill., another member of the troupe, served as witnesses at the wedding. Members of the troupe gave a party last night for the newly-weds.

BARRYMORE SHOW TICKET SALE GOOD

Palace Manager Reports Orders Piling Up for Play Oct. 15.

The advance sale of tickets for Ethel Barrymore's play, "The Constant Wife," which she will bring to the Palace theater on Tuesday night, Oct. 15, is more than satisfying, George E. Planck, manager, said today.

Mail orders for seats have come to the theater office from Delaware, Ada, Upper Sandusky, La Rue, Richwood, Mt. Gilead and several other surrounding communities, as well as from Marion.

Parties of from 15 to 20 persons have reserved seats for the play, which is considered one of the finest comedies written by Somerset Maugham.

Robert Garland, widely-read New York theater critic, wrote recently of the star:

"Ethel Barrymore is on hand, once more reviving her faithful "The Constant Wife," one of the best of modern comedies and pretty near the top of Somerset Maugham's topplah output.

"Comforting it is to discover how well, how surprisingly well, these lines stand the test of time. Perhaps the sophisticates, who are really the unsophisticates of our day and generation, have changed but little, after all. Miss Barrymore is proving that "The Constant Wife," remains ironic with a vengeance."

RED CROSS TO FORM CLASS IN FIRST AID

Group Will Be Organized at Meeting Next Tuesday Night.

The organization of a citywide class in Red Cross standard first aid will be effected next Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Marion county chapter room in the Y. M. C. A.

Invitations went out yesterday to all industrial concerns, to the public utilities, to principals of all schools, to the city firemen, police, and to funeral directors operating ambulance services, asking that each organization send at least one representatives to the class.

Thomas D. Bain of the Harding High school faculty, Red Cross first aid instructor in Marion county for three years, will be in charge of the class.

Persons who complete the 15-hour course will receive a certificate and will be eligible to study advanced first aid.

The class will be organized in the hope of lowering the number of accidents in the city and of preparing employes in every line of work to cope with accidents of any nature until a physician arrives.

The class will be given instruction in bandaging, the care of infected and inflamed wounds, how to determine and treat shock, the treatment of sunstrokes and heatstrokes, the care of fractures, treatment for poisons, where to apply pressure to stop arterial bleeding, and the emergency treatments for boils, appendicitis, poison ivy and convulsions.

The time of meetings will be decided by the group which meets Tuesday.

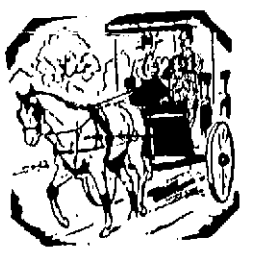
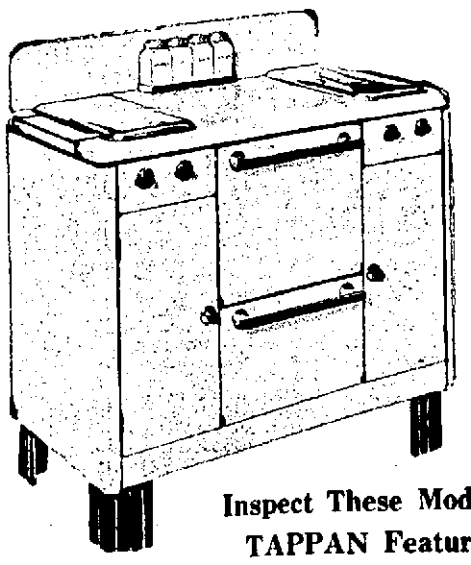
Choose GAS As Their Cooking Fuel



TIME marks progress. The horse and buggy of yesterday have given way to the streamlined motor car of today. Outmoded cooking methods known to grandma have been replaced by convenient, efficient gas. A modern gas range with speed oven, accurate temperature control, automatic lighting has harnessed the fuel to do m'lady's bidding at the turn of a tiny valve. Greater cooking proficiency now can be accomplished more quickly, pleasantly and at less cost with gas than any other kitchen fuel. Small wonder that gas is the favorite cooking fuel of over 15,000,000 women today.



Inspect These Modern TAPPAN Features

Divided cooking top—speed oven with thermostat heat control—smokeless broiler—automatic top burner lighting—full insulation throughout—down-flame oven burners—warming closets—ample storage space—full enamel finish—these, and many other desirable features are found on the Tappan gas ranges.

New methods have brought changes in technique, have stimulated new ideas in food preparation—ideas of which grandma with all her cooking skill couldn't have dreamed. The very latest in modern cookery is being demonstrated daily by Mrs. Geo. O. Thurn, lecturer at The Marion Star Cooking School. In her work as an exponent of the most up-to-date methods of cooking she prefers gas and the Tappan divided-top gas range. Spend a few interesting and enjoyable hours at the Cooking School tomorrow. Then be sure to inspect the beautiful Tappan models on display there, and at—

New Attitude.

It may be argued the state legislature has not represented public opinion accurately in rejecting Gov. Davey's relief bond issues. But the fact is, the legislature has revealed a significant attitude toward creation of bonded indebtedness which has only slight connection with Ohio politics.

Gov. Davey's plan was tempting. It offered an easy way to provide relief funds. His public building program, moreover, would have brought into the state a considerable sum of money from the federal government to match the state's own expenditure. Legislators do not turn down such propositions lightly.

Nevertheless, the Ohio general assembly did turn them down. It showed by so doing that its members were unwilling to continue mortgaging the future for relief. That is a new legislative attitude. Apparently, the public spending pendulum, which recently reached the extreme of reckless extravagance, now is beginning to return to the other end of its arc, cautious economy.

They Paid Their Money.

The resolution of "Big Ten" universities to make life unpleasant on Saturday afternoons for drink-a-minute stars in the stands is commendable, but also full of trouble. There are, for instance, many loyal sons and daughters of those institutions who regard heavy drinking not only as a privilege of football game attendance but as a duty.

One almost can hear them grumbling, "If they want our money, they'll have to take us as we are. Just let some smart usher try to throw us out." That is, probably, a mild foretaste of comment on what will be regarded in many quarters as a spoilsport proposal.

There are, on the other hand, a great many persons who like to watch football games with clear heads and a clear view. They may have no objection to drinking at the proper time and in the proper place, but yet feel strongly on the matter of public tippling, particularly when it leads to disorder and annoyance. The occasional funny drunk is outnumbered by his pestiferous brothers.

In short, sober spectators who also paid their money, don't believe they should be annoyed by lurching drunks presuming overly much on the public's usually philosophical acceptance of drunkenness as one of the things that go with important football games. Thus, there is a conflict of viewpoints.

There's no way to settle the matter, of course, and probably no need to worry about it since there will be neither less nor more excessive drinking at football games this year than in previous years. But wouldn't it be dandy if all the outstanding bottle athletes could be bunched in one section of the stands, where they could lurch against their fellow drunks and be sick in a sympathetic company?

Unquiet Minds.

Gen. Charles G. Dawes, whose current avocation is the making of cheerful noises about business, is a good deal like the first robin. That is to say, his lilting tunes of optimism mean as much to his listeners as they are willing to let them mean.

Take the economists, for instance. As a class, they were last to admit that an economic winter was coming. Some of them, in fact, never recognized the signs until they were buried up to their ears in snow, whereupon they quit issuing cheerful statements from necessity.

Consequently, they are finding it difficult to thaw out and go into vernal ecstasies. They want to believe spring is here, but they're reluctant to give in merely because some one else has been carried off into a rhapsody by the liquid notes of a suspiciously cheerful bird. Their minds are unquiet with fear of being criticized a second time as poor prophets.

So the economists are staying on the safe side. Gen. Dawes says there's no need to fear a major setback following the prevailing upturn in business conditions. "Maybe so, maybe not," muse the economists. "We'll wait and see."

Obviously, this puts a lot of responsibility on the general. But a point in his cheerful statement that shouldn't be overlooked is this: the government can mess up the whole rosy prospect with confidence-killing policies. In other words, Gen. Dawes, too, is the owner of an unquiet mind. He isn't climbing out to the end of a limb, either.

All in all, his forecast amounts to saying, "Everything will be all right if nothing goes wrong." The economists, on the other hand, are saying, "Yes, everything may be all right but we prefer to wait to see if anything goes wrong before we commit ourselves." That leaves nothing for the rest of us to do but say, "Spring is on the way but it may snow." Or, as the old adage goes, "One robin doesn't make a summer."

A Good Campaigner.

If one thinks of President Roosevelt as a politician in the midst of a campaign for reelection— and there's no other way to think of him at the moment—it must be acknowledged the chief executive has what it takes to make a good campaigner.

Mr. Roosevelt speaks easily. He seems to enjoy the necessity some Presidents resent of being constantly in view of the public. His obvious good humor is infectious. Crowds find it hard to believe that a man who gives so plain an appearance of self contentment could be confused about the policies of government.

Anticipating the opposition's plan to place the curse of reckless financing on his administration, President Roosevelt has countered with another promise to balance the budget—a promise which may neither more nor less than any other facile promise, but which will be heard gratefully, nevertheless.

Realizing that business men, small and large, want certainty more than anything else right now, President Roosevelt has declared there will be no more reforms in the immediate future. To that reassurance he added last Sunday a promise not to raise taxes or increase their scope. He will balance the budget with increasing revenue from existing taxes, according to his promise. That would be a good trick if he could do it.

Samples of Mr. Roosevelt's political acumen like [illegible]

ers of the opposition that the President has two strikes on them and plenty of stuff on the ball. If they have wondered why he chose to start campaigning so early, they might reflect on the probable consequences of the presidential tour. One of them certainly will be an additional handicap to the auspicious beginning of the opposition's campaign. By giving his reply to criticism before it is spoken, President Roosevelt is illustrating once more that his political thinking usually is one move ahead of his rivals in either party. He has caught his opponents with their guns unloaded, gaining advantage before the beginning of the formal contest which will be at its peak a year from now.

For Example.

Americans, because they can watch developments in Europe with a detachment unattainable and unfathomable by Europeans, are beginning to be aware of wheels within wheels in the action at Geneva. The League of Nations ostensibly is interested in a satisfactory settlement of the problem presented by Italy's plan to seize Ethiopia. But behind and beneath the League's apparent interest is its ambition to save itself for future usefulness when Germany finally is ready to assert itself.

France and Great Britain are vitally interested in the League's maintenance, which consists in effectiveness against Italy for immediate purposes. Obviously, if the League loses prestige in the present crisis, it will be useless in the ultimate crisis, Germany's bid for European power. The situation is given special interest by the probability that Italy, which now challenges the League's authority, would find the League useful in dealing with the later crisis. Preparation for dealing with Germany is the starting point for virtually all diplomatic action in Europe.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—Just as the old-time bars had their ingratiating moochers called barflies, so have the modern dainty cocktail bars their butterflies. Far up the scale from the cocotte of the bistro, they are nevertheless drink cadgers who receive the house percentage.

Many are girls from college and the fashionable boarding schools, maids who can discuss intelligently the world's changes as well as indulge the patter of the latest slang. The slump in family fortunes and the dearth of jobs brought about the new calling.

They are not the vicarious girls of the cabarets and night clubs. They never leave the establishment with which they are identified. Their job is to look smart, fall unobtrusively into gatherings at the bar, promote drinks and sip non-alcoholic cocktails made especially for them.

A bartender tells me it is not difficult for the girls to earn from $20 to $30 a week between the hours of 5 and 7:30 p. m. They must be smartly dressed and know how to handle gentlemen who have overindulged. Not much as a career, but a living.

Many Broadway funerals, such as Tex Guinan's and Valentino's have taken on the hoopla of the circus arena. Perhaps one marked with the greatest simplicity was that of Chas. K. Harris, dean of Tin Pan Alley and composer of "After the Ball," a few years ago. A gentle soul, greatly beloved, the services consisted of reading the 91st Psalm and a soloist singing the ballad Harris wrote, "Somewhere the Sun is Shining."

Floyd Gibbons was like an edgy fighter awaiting the gong to be off to Ethiopia. He likes those overnight rushes up the gang planks. For several years he has been restless, trying to smother wanderlust by playing hermit in remote log cabins fishing for salmon, and other gestures in outdoorsiness. But always he was scanning the European horizons for the first dark cloud. When the word came to go his apartment in the Winthrop, where he has lived so long, looked hurricane struck. Trophies of escapades all over the world were tossed into warehouse boxes pell-mell. Frazier Hunt, who has trudged through battlefields with Gibbons, stood by viewing the havoc with a gleam and wondering if settling down to a leisurely Canadian ranch to write more books was just the proper thing. He did not look overly happy.

A realism of the long-ago was stumbled onto accidentally in tunning east from Convent avenue across 152d street. Midway to St. Nicholas avenue and far back on a superbly tazored lawn sat one of those porchy frame houses of the 80s even to the horrendous saffron of the paint. To complete the picture, a cast iron deer dotted a side yard near the iron fence was an old milestone bearing this whitewashed inscription: "Six miles to New York." On the front porch sat three knitting ladies. I looked for grinding movie cameras, but it was the real thing.

He will wear a tie if loosely tied and if given a new hat stamps on it awhile. Once in a Broadway musical he rehearsed up to curtain time and then throwing away his part yelled: "What do I know from books?"—went on and ad libbed into a riot.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Oct. 2, 1925.

A new musical composition, "Tantalizing Foxtrot," composed by Mrs. R. E. Richardson of Woodrow avenue, was featured during the last half of the week as one of the numbers played by the Marion Theater orchestra.

It was announced by members of the Elks lodge minstrels committee that a contract had been entered into with the Joe Bren production company of Chicago to stage the forthcoming show sponsored by the lodge. The Bren company formerly employed members of the famous radio team, Amos and Andy, as directors of home talent shows and it was through Mr. Bren that they obtained their first radio engagement.

Walberg Brown of Cleveland was guest of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Sager of Windsor street.

Harold J. Hall of Windsor street, who had been employed by the Osgood Co. for several years, went to Cleveland to enroll with the Spencerian school in a course of higher accounting.

Mrs. H. K. Henderson, president of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs, was elected delegate to the district convention to be held in Columbus, Oct. 13 and 14.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, Oct. 2, 1915.

After allowing the Germans to exhaust themselves in counter attacks, the Allies began a fresh series of assaults south of Ypres. Military observers said it was the beginning of the war's greatest conflict up to that time.

Death toll in a gulf coast storm which raged during the week was placed at 545.

Manager Meyer of the Alhambra theater announced that beginning Monday a series of stock productions would be started for an indefinite run by the Adair players headed by John and Jane Adair.

Members of the I. F. W. club gave a birthday surprise party for O. C. Danner at his home on East Church street.

Jewelry stolen from the E. C. Carl home on Girard avenue was recovered as the result of the arrest of a suspect in Bucyrus.

The Jeffrey Mfg. Co. baseball team of Columbus defeated the Marion Steam Shovel team in the third and deciding game of a series by a score of 10 to 9. The game was played in Columbus and a large group of Marion fans accompanied the local team. The series ended with two victories for the Columbus team and one for Marion.

Behind The News In Washington And Wall Street

BY PAUL MALLON

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Oct. 2—The undertone in California is not hard to hear. It is radicalism versus democracy, and it does not murmur. It shrieks. All the funny political noises you have heard from here (the red-led dock strike, the Sinclair Epicac hawking and the Townsend plea to support the aged in style) appear to be only the beginning.

The din will be deafening when the forces of Communism and Fascism, now organizing quietly, come to the climax of their struggle. At least this is what both Communists and conservatives will tell you behind their hands, and it seems to be true as far as the northern half of this golden empire is concerned.

Shifts

The inside situation is getting around to this partly because some one seems to have been pouring water into Dr. Sinclair's Epicac. It is not generally known, but more than a couple of persons are supposed to have dropped out of his outfit lately because they believed it was losing its popular potency.

The Townsendites seem to be holding their lines better, possibly because there are so many elderly retired persons settled here with voting wives, sons and daughters. Their peak also may have been reached.

Within and beyond these outfits, the deep-dyed radicals are coming strong.

Surge

Communism may be only a dead herring across political paths east of the Rockies, but around Frisco it is the real red stuff. You can get an insight on that by looking behind the veil at the last A. F. of L. state convention.

Harry Bridges is the clever left wing spearhead, boring from within organized labor through his leadership of the longshoremen. Formerly he received about 400 or 500 votes each year when he ran for some A. F. of L. office. A few weeks ago he received 19,002 in his campaign for a vice presidency. He was defeated. His successful opponents (non-radicals) polled an average of 58,000 votes.

But Bridges' upswing was enough to make the regular labor leaders whistle in amazement. They are assuming the responsibility for stopping the left wing surge, which seems to be quite a responsibility.

Fascism

On the other side, the business people know what is coming and are getting ready. A new Citizens Voters Association is being quietly organized by a responsible authority. The backers do not want publicity. The importance of their move may not be widely appreciated, but their purpose is to set up a state-wide network through which money and workers may be obtained to combat the radical trend.

The movement is non-partisan but largely Republican. Its purposes are democratic, but it will be called Fascist. Everyone seems to like European political words out here, since Fascist methods killed the general strike.

Coquettes

The regular politicians (Republican and Democratic) are doing considerable coy flirting with all the wild movements this side of Communism. They want the support.

A tip on that was offered a few days back when President Roosevelt appointed a Sinclair man (George Acret) to the Guffey coal board. Postmaster General Farley is supposed to have fixed that. It was the first patronage recognition he has given Sinclair. Of course, he hopes Epicac will be sold in new deal bottles next year.

A similar explanation lies behind the news some time back that Republican Gov. Merriam had come out for the Townsend plan. His pals say he was misquoted, that he never favored $200 a month for anyone, but only a "reasonable" sum. Whatever he favored, it was mindful of the Townsend strength out here.

Baiminess

What every visitor asks first is how California comes to be the testing ground for all these fancy ideas. There are few heavy industries here, consequently little industrial unemployment. The papers are currently publishing statistics showing that the Pacific coast states have recovered faster than others. They were the last to feel the depression. (No bank failed in San Francisco.)

How radicalism can flourish in such a situation is explained by Californians with the same answer they give to all other local phenomena—the climate.

Strangely, that seems to be the right answer, at least partly. Not that the weather is so balmy it makes people that way, but transients have been pouring into the state throughout the depression. It is estimated that as many as 200,000 without support came into the state during the depression. The federal transient bureau has figures showing that it has been caring for 30,000 to 40,000 incoming destitutes each month. Also, the expansion of California during the last decade lured all classes of unsettled and dissatisfied people, living on investments not yet recovered.

Notes

Gov. Merriam is acting very much like a vice presidential candidate, and he is. His folks are trying to get the California delegation pledged to him for President with a view to trading it off for the vice presidential nomination (a la McAdoo-Garner). The most influential Republicans are privately working for an uninstructed delegation or one pledged to Hoover for impersonal trading purposes. They will win.

Frisco is already preparing for a world's fair in 1938.

There are 11,000 members of the Longshoremen's Union, but only 4,000 are working. Relief therefore is supporting a considerable portion of the left wing labor movement.

BY JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—There was some nifty stage management behind the American Legion's resolution for immediate payment of the bonus uncomplicated by monetary issues—and the booing of Congressman Patman when he tried to present his views.

New York insiders learn that President Roosevelt contact men did some skillful missionary work among Legion leaders in advance. The administration is reconciled to passage of the bonus early next year—the one concern now being to frame its enactment in the form least objectionable to the President. This means a bill free of inflationary riders. Such an outcome is now practically assured as a result of the Legion's action—because the Legion is the veterans' organization to which congressmen pay most attention.

Of course the Veterans of Foreign Wars will continue its fight for an inflation bonus. This outfit is growing stronger all the time—but the Legion still weighs more politically. Meanwhile it does Mr. Roosevelt no harm to have the two big groups of veterans at odds on this issue. Comment runs that the old Roman principle of "divide and rule" is just as sound politics today as it was 2,000 years ago.

Cautious

Utility men find indications that the securities exchange commission is beginning to be acutely aware of its tremendous responsibilities in administering the holding company bill. About 2,000 corporations come within the scope of the law and should be registered by Dec. 1. An Atlas might well shudder at the prospect of carrying such a load.

Probably most companies will register—especially the big fellows—on the theory that the law must of course be contested but why not let somebody else stick his neck out first? However, there's no doubt that there will be refusals to register which will afford ample opportunity for a showdown in the courts on this point.

A top-rank utility leader expresses the private opinion that the law—with the exception of Section Eleven—is workable without undue detriment to the "good" companies if wisely and restrainedly administered. Chances are that it will be. The commission evidently intends to move very cautiously for at least a year—devoting its attention to fact finding and not trying to issue many orders until it finds out what's what. As for Section Eleven—the last minute substitute for the "death sentence"—its exact meaning is a mystery to all concerned, including some of New York's brightest legal lights and the SEC itself. Its ultimate interpretation will be up to the courts—not the commission.

Glory

Power leaders gladly admit one thing in Jim Landis' favor—he isn't a headline hunter. He is expected to avoid rather than court publicity in connection with his holding company chore. He has no intention of putting himself on the spot by going off half-cocked.

But utility men also predict that the federal power commission, Sen. Black's lobby inquiry and other federal agencies will more than make up for the SEC's reticence. They prophesy that each will strive to outdo the others in grabbing glory and newspaper space. At the moment Sen. Black is in the lead—but the power commission is said to be hoarding some niftys with which to smash the news at an opportune moment.

If Sen. Black is in earnest about serving summons on all utility companies that decline to answer his questionnaire he is in for a busy winter. Few of those who have received his latest inquiry form will pay the slightest attention to it. Recalcitrants won't refuse—they just won't answer. They claim they can't possibly comply with his request except at heavy extra expense—and they'll be darned if they're going to spend their dough just to oblige him.

Embargo

Chemical works, oil producers and other concerns furnishing raw materials are worried about the hint that the munitions control board will make up another list covering their products, to be denied export in case of war. Although the neutrality resolution specifies "arms, ammunition and implements of war" it is recognized that other materials are just as important in war.

The embargo may not be applied until congress meets, and then look out for stricter legislation in case war has begun.

Relay

New Yorkers learn that substantial arms and munitions shipments have been made to Cuba recently. You may wonder how the Cubans—either Menedietistas or would-be rebels—can possibly pay for them. The answer is they don't. Cuba is used merely as a convenient relay point to other destinations that are carefully kept confidential.

This stunt is worth bearing in mind if a serious embargo is declared.

Scouts

Anti-new dealers rejoice at the treasury's latest effort to scrape up all the stray nickels it can claim. A number of inquiry agents have been loosed on small income taxpayers for the first time in our history—the idea being to prove errors in past returns that would call for corrective remittances.

New York gets reports that inquirers are pretty sore about it—caring little for the idea and less for the manners of Mr. Morgenthau's scouts. The boys are hopeful this can be worked up to replace the late lamented potato control issue as a breeder of popular indignation.

The Word of God

FOLLOWING JESUS: Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you.—Ephesians 4: 32.

TODAY
Arthur Brisbane's News Review

In Chicago 25,000 stood in line one time to buy tickets for [illegible] first world's series baseball game in that city Friday. Thousand were disappointed tickets left for them.

If a time comes when [illegible] tants of this country are as much interested in their government they are in baseball, they will get a better government, although baseball may suffer.

Two Per Cent Return

We have in the United States "armies" more profitable than those maintained in Europe.

Last Monday, in New York's Madison Square Garden, the brothers J. B. Hartford and G. L. Hartford gave a party for a "group" their employes. Covering the floor of the great hall with seats made it possible to crowd twenty thousand into the building, to hear Miss Kate Smith sing "You Are All I Need" and other songs.

The 20,000 represented more than a quarter of the human beings that work for the Hartford brothers. The latter, "diligent in their business," as the Bible says, have built up the "Atlantic & Pacific" stores from a few little shops with red fronts to the biggest commercial enterprise in the world.

True, they earn only 2 per cent profit, but a business of one thousand million dollars a year means twenty millions profit a year at 2 per cent. So the Hartford brothers "can't complain."

J. B. Hartford made an excellent speech, with the quality of brevity, and his brother, G. L. Hartford, applauded vigorously with the other great quality, sincerity.

"Seest thou a man diligent in his business, he shall stand before kings." There are still opportunities in the United States. The thing is to seize one. The man best fitted you will do it.

To Influence Men

The learned Dr. Lorge, of Teachers' college, Columbia university, has been studying laws governing propaganda that influences human minds, experimenting on 99 "educated" adults from the list of unemployed, from twenty to sixty-nine years old. These were asked to express their views of "some opinions" uttered by Lincoln, Roosevelt, Hoover, Thomas, (the Socialist candidate), Coolidge, Hearst, Karl Marx. Many that reacted favorably to the name of "Lincoln" did not approve Lincoln's statement:

"Capital is the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not existed."

Those that "objected" had sound reason on their side. Capital is not the fruit of labor any more than labor is the fruit of capital. Capital and labor are both the fruit of human intelligence.

The intelligence of Thomas A. Edison supplied labor, jobs employing millions of men and paying billions in wages, and that Edison intelligence alone supplied capital to those that knew how to use Edison's ideas on a big scale.

The great element in "propaganda," "persuasion," in advertising, is repetition. Say a thing often enough and the average man believes it, not asking why. Of all human convictions, none is more firmly fixed, immovable, than those based on superstition, ignorance, falsehood and preposterous credulity.

Very Cheap Empire

The Van Sweringer brothers had railroad properties that financial writers called a "three billion dollar empire."

Perhaps "three billion" referred to bonds, watered stocks and other "securities" of the "empire." In any case, the Van Sweringens borrowed forty-eight million dollars on that "empire," largely from J. P. Morgan & Co. They did not pay the $48,000,000, the whole thing was put up at auction, the Van Sweringens bought back control of the "three-billion-dollar empire" for three million dollars, one-tenth of 1 per cent of the three billions and $45,000,000 less than the amount borrowed on it.

This should console little fish in Wall street, who think "insiders always win." Insiders, being Morgan & Co. didn't win on this occasion and Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, able citizen, will look, or at least feel, like another "knight of the rueful countenance" when he figures how many miniatures and $600,000 antique oil paintings he would have to sell to get back the loss on that "empire."

Prince Talks

"The Prince of Wales has talked to Laval, French prime minister, seeking to circumscribe the war." The prince's grandfather, Edward, when Prince of Wales, often talked for England, and was useful to his country.

The prince today has a harder task. He probably will not be able to change Mussolini's plans. And England will probably not fight against Italy that "first shot" that might be more harmful to the world than the killing at Sarajevo that began the 1914 trouble.

TWO SOUTHERNERS IN OHIO

In the fall of 1862 Andrew Johnson, then a senator from Tennessee, repudiated by the secessionist element of his state, visited Columbus. He was making a tour of the northern prison camps to see how Tennessee prisoners were being treated. He made two speeches while in Columbus, one to the prisoners and the other in the house of representatives.

He was followed by a "Parson" Brownlow, itinerant preacher and editor, on a similar mission. He approved slavery but was opposed to secession, the latter being making him unpopular in Tennessee. He spoke to the prisoners but afterward was so generous some friends be found among [illegible] he was compelled to borrow money before he could continue his tour of the prison camps.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Erysipelas.

NOW COMES the announcement that erysipelas in infants can be treated more successfully than in previous years. This is indeed gratifying because at every age erysipelas is a dreaded disease. When it occurs in infants it is generally fatal. Physicians are hopeful that the new treatment will greatly reduce the mortality of erysipelas in infancy.

Erysipelas is an infectious disease caused by a germ of what the doctors call the "streptococcus type." The germ enters the skin through a scratch, tear or contusion. The infection is usually confined to the face, but of course it may involve any part of the body.

Since the disease is highly contagious or infectious its occurrence in an institution causes great alarm. The danger is even greater should there be an outbreak in a maternity ward or a convalescent home. Due to the rapidity with which it spreads the disease is often referred to as a fire, "St. Anthony's Fire."

The victim of erysipelas first complains of chilliness or of a hard chill. This symptom is followed by high fever.

Within 24 hours the characteristic rash appears. The skin is red and swollen, but there is a clear cut, elevated border to the involved tissues. Blisters form in the reddened area and the inflammation rapidly spreads to the adjacent normal skin. The inflammed region burns and itches, sometimes very greatly.

At about the fourth day the eruption begins to disappear and the inflammation soon disappears. Unless the infection is completely controlled, however, it would spread to other parts of the body. In a severe case gangrene or deep-seated involvement may add a dangerous complication. When this occurs the germs may enter the blood stream and cause serious blood poisoning.

In the new treatment of erysipelas, which I have mentioned, the physician gives a transfusion of what is called "citrated blood." This treatment is given the infant immediately upon diagnosis of the disease.

The x-ray or ultra-violet treatment is another measure of value. Of course the length of treatment with the x-ray can only be determined by the extent of the infection and the age of the sufferer.

Good results are obtained when the transfusion is repeated every second day. In addition, "convalescent serum" from the blood of a recovered patient may be given by hypodermic injections into the muscles.

LEADER IN EAGLES LODGE TO BE HERE

Members from Nearby Cities Will Greet C. H. Mann from Kansas City.

Eagles from 11 nearby cities will gather in Marion next Monday night as guests of Buckeye Aerie No. 337, to hear Conrad H. Mann, Kansas City, Mo., business and civic leader, and managing organizer and chief auditor of the Eagles lodges.

Mr. Mann, who recently retired as president of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce after serving in that capacity since 1928, is known as one of the country's leading industrialists, and is well-known as a fraternalist. He has served as national president of his fraternity and his address is expected to draw many Eagles from aeries outside this district.

In addition to Marion Eagles lodge members will be present from Delaware, Mt. Gilead, Galion, Crestline, Shelby, Ashland, Mansfield, Bucyrus, Upper Sandusky, Carey and Kenton. The meeting will not be open to the public.

A banquet will be held at the Eagles' hall prior to the meeting. Initiation of candidates from Marion and other lodges also will be held, with local lodge officers in charge.

John P. Lusch, president of Buckeye Aerie, announced today that the Eagles initiated 89,250 new members in the country during the year ended in June. He credits this rapid growth, in part, to the organizing efforts of Mr. Mann. The fraternity now has a membership of 550,000, with local organizations in more than 1,150 cities and towns in the United States, Canada, Alaska and the Philippines.

Arrangements for the Monday night meeting will be completed the last of this week.

PALACE FOOTLIGHTS SHINE AGAIN FOR NEW MUSICAL REVUE

Footlights on the Palace theater stage, dim these last several weeks, opened last night on the first musical revue attraction of the new season—Earl Taylor's "Oo La La Coutinental." The feature picture is "Hot Tip," featuring James Gleason and Zasu Pitts.

"Oo La La Continental" is as diverting a revue as has come this way in a long time. It's a well-dressed and fast-moving show with new tunes and comedy that are "sold" in a showmanly manner.

Time and space will not permit taking up the various acts in detail. Stand-outs are the Six American Belfords, acrobats, and Buddy Lake, comic. The Belfords appear in as fine an acrobatic turn as this reviewer has seen in many a vaudeville moon. There's an old gag in show business that when you wish the other guy bad luck you hope all his children are acrobats. Not as good as the Belfords, however.

Buddy Lake is a breezy and intimate type of comic at times reminiful of Ray Bolger of the big time music halls. Some of his gags and situations are familiar but he gets them across with that little twist labeled showmanship.

The opening chorus of "Oo La La Continental" brings the entire cast on the stage with flashy costumes, blaring music and fast stepping.

In addition to the girls who parade the costumes and slight talent there is a line of 10 dancing girls who put over several difficult routines with apparent ease.

Others in the large cast include Bob Fosgana, radio crooner, Connie Cella, clever hoofer, LeBau and Louise, excellent roping pair who should forget about comedy, Virginia Woods, songstress, Ray Oswald, stooge for Buddy Lake and others. A pit orchestra lends the satisfactory musical support.

The picture, "Hot Tip," is a race track story from the pen of William Slavens McNutt, with Jimmy Gleason and Zasu Pitts ably handling the many comedy situations. A battery of shorts augment the screen bill—G. H. M.

NAME IN HISTORY SKETCH

Of unusual interest to one Marion woman was the brief editorial page item in the "Neighborhood History" sketch of yesterday's Star of the first marriage in Salem township Wyandot county

Mrs C G Butler of 155 Brenner court reported today that Squire Joe Mellson a justice of the peace who read the ceremony was her grandfather She said she heard her grandfather tell of the event the marriage of Catherine Michaels to George Right in June 1845

The marriage ceremony was read at the log cabin home of George Michaels father of the bride and the couple set out for Indian Territory shortly after the ceremony

As yet the Marion county relief offices have received only the notice that such a project has been approved and that it will be available to pupils from 16 to 25 years of age

Mr Abel said he understood the monthly funds was to be given to those pupils whose families receive federal relief in return for odd jobs which the pupils will do at the schools

The skeleton outline of the project received by C A. Hudson superintendent of city schools D T Mills superintendent of county schools, and Mr Abel stated that pupils in need of such assistance must apply to the head of their school who will in turn submit the application to Mr Abel to be certified as to eligibility. After certification the pupils will be assigned to jobs on which the maximum pay will be $6 payable in cash relief checks.

The plan is similar to that offered university students Mr Hudson stated.

The Marion County Relief administration has certified a considerable number of students who wish the assistance at colleges and universities Mr Abel said

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Roderick Determines to Take Punishment Resolutely As Party Prepares to Continue the Trip

RODERICK WAS so unconsciously melodramatic in his farewell" to Junior in anticipation of his being "sent to Coventry" the temporary punishment I had outlined for him that I was irresistibly reminded of the delicious parody of a cinema actors bidding goodby to his horse which I read long ago in "Merton of the Movies"

But the inclination to smile I successfully fought back, did not linger with me because of the sincere compassion I had for the youngster who I knew was really suffering in realization of his ostracism during the journey to which he had looked forward with such enthusiasm

I knew however that I could indulge compassion no more than mirth I must harden my heart and go on with the discipline so distasteful to me yet so necessary in view of what Roderick had done

Now Roderick I said briskly, "climb in here with me for now Junior go back and sit with Mary until we are ready to start

I guess we'll be starting pretty soon now Junior said as he turned away while Roderick climbed to the seat beside me Mr Williams is pretty nearly here with Aunt Katherine and Faith

Worried About Car

I turned my head and saw that he had correctly gauged the progress of my car Even as I looked Williams brought it alongside the one in which Roderick and I were sitting and Katherine from the back seat with a drowsy Faith in her arms sent me an eloquent look of thanksgiving

Williams shot an appraising look at Roderick and evidently gratified at the lad's return to normalcy spoke in a low voice to me

If you don't mind I'd like to run this car down the road a bit and see if it's all right I think our boy was smart enough to jerk the gear shift into neutral when he turned the key off but I'm not sure—I was watching my chance to jump But did you notice her bucking? I thought I did for a second but I couldn't be sure

I'm afraid I can't tell you that I said with a suddening remembrance of those terrorized seconds I never thought to say put it into neutral when I called to him to turn off the switch key

Fear Gears Ripped

If I'm not mistaken he was smart enough to do it by himself he repeated or else he did it accidentally when he leaned across to turn the key Ask him please when you get the chance If he did throw it into neutral by accident or design everything's all right But if he didn't then it's very likely the gears are badly ripped

Well get out at once" I said Come Roderick we're going to change to the big car for a while

I'll just put this car at the side of the road for you Williams replied and by the time Roderick and I were on the ground and I had seen that the front doors were latched and the ones on the rear pennning the collie in were safely locked Williams had parked my car and was coming back toward us

Roderick slipped his hand into mine confidingly a childish gesture the boys use now only when sudden joy or trouble comes to them and I pressed it warmly

Katherine Relieved

I saw him shoot a furtive glance toward Faith now sound asleep and being tucked by Katherine into an improvised bed formed by the seat an upturned suit case pillows and blankets Then he turned his face resolutely away again and climbing into the front seat where Junior had been sitting folded his arms and gazed ahead of him

I turned toward his barine and instictively our hands met across the seat in a warm clasp.

"Faith is sound asleep" she said in the muted voice she always uses when she is near an ill person or a sleeping one. It's safe to talk carefully But I feel more like shouting paeans He's not hair turned white' I've lived a thousand years since I saw that car move off down the road"

JUDGING BY the rather adverse positions of Luna this may be a day of unrest, excitement disturbance and treachery There are signs of danger trial and distress which may be either incited or aggravated by indulgences in tempestuous impulsive and reckless actions probably born of jealousy and vengeance And these evoke duplicity trickery or shrewdness by way of reprisal With tact calm judgment or strategy there may be some benefits through employment or superiors

Those whose birthday it is are on the verge of a year calling for much restraint good judgment, strategy or diplomacy If they would reap any benefits against omens of treachery intrigue and secret undermining

A child born on this day may be dominated by impulse turbulence jealousy and revenge unless given early training and discipline However they will be practical and constructive and should succeed with self-control tact and restraint

The Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

WHAT WOMEN DON'T TELL

After a woman has been thirty three for seven or eight years she sometimes decides to turn it over and admit that she's 35

A winning way with women may be an asset to a man but sooner or later it gets him into a spot where it is of no further use to him

A woman can be perfectly happy with a man only when she has reached the point where she can regard him philosophically as she does the weather and not expect him to be dependable for two days in succession

When a girl asks for time to think it over" before accepting a man he has already lost Because love is like an egg—if there's any doubt about it, there's no doubt about it.

When a woman stops trying to attract men it is not always because she has given up hope but because all love affairs from the first glance to the last kiss have grown to look so much alike to her

Rushing into marriage may be folly but when an engagement lasts too long the girls patience wears out—and the man's love—rusts out.

Even a wife has her uses not the least of them being that she is the only infallible and indisputable alibi for not marrying the other woman

That strange stunned sensation which two people have just after their divorce is akin to that dazed feeling with which you pick yourself up just after you have been grazed by a taxicab and discover that you're not dead

A woman's love is never dead so long as she believes that it is the other man's fault when her husband stays out late and the other woman's fault when he gets tangled up in a foolish infatuation

Once a man begins to realize the truth about himself it somehow robs him of all his enthusiasm for trying to remodel his wife

PILLSBURY'S BEST

The "balanced" flour

Used at the COOKING SCHOOL by Mrs. George Thurn

If you've wondered why so many good cooks will use only Pillsbury's Best Flour, don't miss seeing it demonstrated at the big Cooking School this week.

You'll see for yourself why it is called the "balanced" flour . . . how it makes perfect bread, biscuits, cakes and pies . . . why for 66 years it has been the favorite all purpose flour of women who take special pride in their baking.

Pillsbury's Best never changes in quality . . . and it's "balanced" to work perfectly in everything you bake.

See this famous flour demonstrated at the Cooking School—then buy a sack of Pillsbury's Best and let it prove its superiority in your own baking. You can do your best only when you use the best . . . and in flour you'll find that means Pillsbury's Best!

AT YOUR GROCER'S

"Crisco is light and easily digested," says Mrs. Mary Johns

CRISCO is the creamy quick-digesting fat

Mrs Mary Johns, being a Southerner, loves to make gingerbread and fry Southern chicken And her children, Louise, Slaton and Jeanette, love to eat them Mrs Johns says "I never give the children heavy foods that are hard on the digestive organs That's why I prefer Crisco—it is light and easily digested—it doesn't make food greasy or over rich Gingerbread is my specialty—if I don't make it often, I hear about it—and it never disagrees, because I always use Crisco."

MRS JOHNS STORY IN PICTURES

Mother why do you always use CRISCO?
So you can digest it easily!
Goody! Making gingerbread!
Look how creamy it is Louise It makes food light and digestible
Mother's showing me how to make it with CRISCO.
Your Southern fried chicken is perfect, dear!
It isn't greasy and hard to digest, because I fry it in CRISCO I told Louise today that CRISCO is healthy, because it's quick-digesting fat.

At the Star Cooking School, conducted this week in the Star Auditorium Mrs. George Thurn uses and recommends CRISCO, the modern, quick-digesting shortening

CRISCO digests quickly

MRS. JOHNS' WHOLE WHEAT GINGERBREAD

(she uses whole wheat and Crisco because both are digestible)

½ cup Crisco
½ cup light brown sugar sifted
2 eggs
1 cup molasses
1½ cups white flour
½ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup whole wheat flour
½ cup milk

Save your mixing time Measure Crisco (the creamy digestible shortening) brown sugar eggs and molasses into mixing bowl beat all together in one easy stirring. Sift all dry ingredients except whole wheat flour—then mix in whole wheat flour Add dry ingredients to Crisco mixture alternately with milk. Beat 1 minute. Pour into large sheet pan (8" x 12") or 2 cake pans (7" x 7") rubbed with Crisco Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 to 35 minutes Delicious served warm—either plain—or as a dessert with sweetened whipped cream.

LUCKY DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE

(Mrs. Johns says "Rich as it is it's always light and digestible with Crisco!")

½ cup Crisco
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs
½ cup cocoa
½ cup hot water
1 cup thick sour milk
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder

Blend fluffy Crisco, sugar and eggs thoroughly in mixing operation. (Note how easily and satisfactorily these separate, difficult operations are now combined in one with the help of Crisco, which comes to you already creamed.) Beat cocoa in hot water until smooth and add to first mixture. Then add milk beaten with soda and flavoring and lastly stir in flour, salt and baking powder which have been sifted together Bake in Crisco'd 9-inch layer cake pans in moderate oven (350° F.) for about 30 minutes. This makes three large layers which may be iced with the following fudge icing 1½ cups granulated sugar and ½ teaspoon soda with ½ cup water to a temperature of 238° F. or until syrup forms a soft ball in cold water. Pour slowly over 2 stiffly beaten egg whites, beating constantly as you do so. When cool enough [illegible] and vanilla and spread between layers and on top and sides of cake.

All Crisco recipes are tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Crisco is the only pure vegetable fat in the world. Crisco is manufactured by the Procter & Gamble Co.

Fans, Police Hunt Down World Series Ticket Scalpers

37,000 PASTEBOARDS FOR WRIGLEY FIELD SOLD IN FOUR HOURS

"Stooges" Grab Prize Tickets; Speculators Asking $75 for Strips of Three

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO Oct 2—The ticket hungry Cub fans police and the department of internal revenue joined in a big hunt for World Series ducat speculators today

Thousands of fans, disappointed yesterday when the entire supply of 37 000 reserved seats—grandstand and boxes—was exhausted in less than four hours of an over the-counter sale at Wrigley field were willing to pay premiums on numerous pasteboards reported to be in the hands of scalpers

Police however were out to see that no scalping was done The department of internal revenue was alert to see that the government received its share of the money in tax should scalping be accomplished in spite of police

With reports that a large number of tickets had been obtained by speculators through the use of stooges action was promised by Capt John Prendergast chief of uniformed police and Chief of Detectives John J Sullivan Their men were ordered to throw any scalpers you find into jail

The stooges were said to have received fees running as high as $10 from speculators to stand in line and purchase tickets

Speculators early last night offered strips of three box seat tickets—one for each game in Chicago—which cost $10 80 at Wrigley field at $75 Quotations on the $16 50 grandstand sets ran as high as $15 Later however they were not so bold refusing to discuss the ticket situation in public

Phil K Wrigley owner of the Cubs said the situation could have been handled in no other way when asked why the tickets had been sold over the counter

No matter what you do it seems to be wrong he said We selected this method of disposing of world series tickets in the belief that we would give the ordinary fans a break Even if we had wanted to do it any other way we couldn't have because the tickets were not ready until Monday night"

More than 20 000 fans stormed the ticket booths some arriving as early as 24 hours ahead of the start of the sale In 3 hours and 55 minutes between 8 a m and 11 55 a m every ticket was sold leaving more than half of the seekers to go away empty handed

The sale of 13 000 bleacher seats at $3 10 each will open the morning of each game day

MICHIGAN TO MEET SEVERE TEST AGAINST SPARTANS SATURDAY

Michigan State To Offer Kipke Stiff Opposition; Big Ten Teams Busy.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO Oct 2—Michigan's Wolverines are pretty likely to get a definite idea of what to expect in their comeback campaign this fall when Michigan State invades Ann Arbor Saturday

The contest will be the first Michigan Practice has revealed little on which to rate Harry Kipke's team. Injuries to prospective regular backs notably Bob Cooper and Stark Fitchie have hampered development of the attack while numerous shifts in the line indicate that Kipke has not found a suitable combination

The Spartans who started Michigan off to its worst season in history last fall by winning the annual battle 16 to 0 appear to have another powerful eleven and of course will let go with both barrels in an effort to make it two in a row Michigan State pair under wraps and several stars out of action opened its season last week by trouncing Grinnell college 41 to 0

Kipke yesterday started building a defense against the Notre Dame style of ball advancing taught by Charles Bachman sending his freshmen through a long demonstration Ritchie a sophomore returned to work for the first time since suffering an ankle injury two weeks ago and may play in part of Saturday's test. Cooper another prospective star hurt last week will be out for another week

Purdue and Northwestern who meet in the opening game of the Big Ten title season as well as the conference's first night game started polishing off their offenses The Boilermakers with Fullback John Drake playing a leading part mauled the reserves in a scrimmage while the Wildcats worked to master plays involving lateral passes

At Illinois Coach Bob Zuppke spent most of a long session working with his punters While Lee Lindberg a star kicker out with an injury for at least a month Zuppke tested Lowell Spurgeon John Kanosky and Bill Charles with the former having an edge

A cotton picking machine said to equal the work of 100 pairs of human hands has been invented by two Texas men who obtained the idea from watching their mother operating a spinning wheel

Harding Gridders Round Into Form for N.C.O. Fray

Final Big Practice on Today at Stadium Field; Expect Changes in Lineup.

The journey of Harding High school's football squad to the new stadium gridiron this afternoon and the heavy workout which followed the trek brought to a close major preparations for Friday afternoon's N C O league grid inaugural

Today's lengthy practice session is scheduled to last until darkness settles over the South Side field as Coach Carl Cramer drills his boys in offensive and defensive tactics to use against the Mt Vernon High school eleven here in the first North Central Ohio conference battle for both teams

Tomorrow night a light minute polish will be devoted to a brief rehearsal of plays and a good workout for punters and kickers A review of defensive measures will also be made and the drill for the aternoon opposition yet this season will be completed The President coach has had the Yellow Jackets of Mt Vernon scouted twice and informed his charges thoroughly on what they may expect Friday afternoon

Scrimmaging for nearly an hour and a half yesterday afternoon the Red and Black squad ran into one of the heaviest drills in several weeks Blocking tackling and passing preceded the long scrimmage Charging and tackling equipment at Central Junior High practice field came in for a siege of heavy work

Injuries and new flashes of ability shown this week are expected to alter Coach Cramer's starting lineup for the N C O opener considerably Dwight Earhart and Dave Jenly are in shape to work wonders on the line while Evans bothered with an elbow injury is the only backfield man on the casualty list

The work of Stout at left tackle makes the assigning of that post a tossup between Earhart and Stout Jenly appears to be a fixture at the post on the right side of the line Ruby and Brady have been looking good at end Sharrock and Lefty Harper appear to have an edge on the guard assignments

Marked improvement has been noticed in the work of the line, the ball carrying ability of backs has hit a new high and the laterals forwards and flashy combinations of the recent game have added considerable deadliness to the Pirate attack

Big Bill Kuelher appears destined to stay on the sidelines Friday after suffering a possible fracture of a toe last week But how much service a number of Harding will receive Friday will depend largely upon their showing this afternoon and outcome of bruises and injuries

The Harding High rooters will taste their first opposition Friday afternoon against the Mt Vernon Jayvees The first game is scheduled to start at 2 15 and the big battle at 3 30 The game was moved forward from Saturday to enable Harding and Mt Vernon squads and coaches to attend the High School day activities at the Ohio State-Kentucky game in Columbus Saturday afternoon

A giant rally and pep session will give the Harding team a big sendoff for its N C O campaign tomorrow night A band concert at the court house a parade and a huge bonfire at the new stadium field are highlights on the program being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce

DETROIT TIGERS' DYNAMITERS

Greenberg, Gehringer and Goslin a trio of husky lads known far and wide as the G-Men who never (well almost never) fail to get their pitching victims are the most explosive ingredients in that package of T N T which we call the Detroit batting order

Big Hank, Classy Charley and the old Goose along with boss Mike Cochrane have accounted for more than 80 per cent of the Tigers' runs this season and driving scores across the old platter is what really counts more than any fancy batting averages.

These men are expected to be bad medicine for Cholly Grimm's outfielders in the World Series.

Jacobs May Take Over Garden Fight Promotion

Louis-Baer Bout Director Appears Set for Monopoly of New York Boxing.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Oct — The boxing world was waiting today to see whether Mike Jacobs was going to have big time boxing promotion all to himself

The Associated Press learned from reliable sources in Detroit last night that Jacobs promotor of the Louis Baer fight which grossed more than a million dollars recently expected to take over the prize ring privileges of New York's Madison Square Garden main competitor to Jacobs Twentieth Century club

His control would cover the next five years and include the Garden's outdoor bowl

A proposal that Jacobs take over this department it was learned was the outcome of the proxy battle between Col John R Kilpatrick president of the Garden Corp and Col John S Hammond Hammond and Jacobs are former associates of Tex Rickard

The battle of the Colonels ended yesterday when Hammond who was defeated in the proxy contest, lost his position as chairman of the board of directors Kilpatrick was again named president of the corporation and its subsidiary the New York Rangers professional hockey club The latter position had been held by Hammond

The news from Detroit was in contrast to the announcement of officials following the meeting They said that no changes in policy were anticipated and that important personnel of the organization would be unchanged for the time being

They said that James Johnston present Garden matchmaker who was criticized by Hammond because the Garden had not succeeded in securing the Louis Baer and other lucrative bouts would continue his duties Attempts to reach Kilpatrick and other members of the corporation were unavailing late last night

Jacobs was considering two propositions one a flat rental of the Garden for the 14 Friday nights open to boxing—during the indoor season the other a guarantee for a season plus a liberal percentage of the profits above a certain figure Profits from outdoor shows in the big bowl on Long Island also would be shared by the promoter and the Garden
